In 1985 Francis Crosby joined the Imperial War Museum's branch at Duxford, England, acknowledged as one of the world's leading centres for aviation enthusiasts. Having held research and exhibition posts at the museum, he now heads Duxford's Marketing Department. His published works include: Images of War: D-Day (Pen and Sword); and Images of War: The Luftwaffe in World War II (Pen and Sword).

Very interesting.

I love airplane books -- from the time I was 7 years old (and I'm now 59). This is an excellent reference book on almost every fighter and bomber ever flown by any air force. Well researched, great photos, yet not overly technical for the non technical minded.

Gives highly detailed information regarding all areas of interest: Construction, Staffing, Weapons,

Service Periods, etc. You would not be disappointed!

It was a great gift for an old Air Force Vietnam Vet
