How do you experience God in worship? Willfully? Emotionally? Intellectually? Physically? If your worship service doesn't involve all of the above, infuse it with a truer form of worship. Bob Rognlien explores how Jesus' Great Commandment, "Love the Lord your God with all your heart, soul, mind, and strength" (Mark 12:30), should center our experience of him. From Christ, we learn that biblical worship involves our: Volition (heart) Emotion (soul) Intellect (mind) Body (strength) Experiential Worship engages myriad aspects of human experience to draw people into a more complete, life-transforming encounter with God. Create a place where worshipers come face-to-face with the Father. Provocative and practical, this book will equip those of diverse backgrounds and churches of all sizes to build life-changing services that change lives for years to come.

BOB ROGNLIEN is first and foremost a wholehearted worshiper of Jesus Christ. A graduate of Princeton Theological Seminary, he is the senior pastor of Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd. Bob, his wife, Pam, and their two sons live in Torrance, California.

Great book I normally read fiction for fun but was assigned this book for class and REALLY was inspired by it and it brought up many of the timely issues my home church has!! Such great and valuable information that we cannot ignore if we truly have a heart for Jesus and growing HIS kingdom!!!

I loved this book. Eye opening and interesting.

Great book, very eye opening. I love how Rognlien encourages the reader to think out of the box and embrace new types of worship.

This book is being used in a small task force at our church to help us evaluate worship. Rognlien is direct in his approach to worshipping God fully focusing on Him and yet understanding that people experience God in different ways. I recommend this book for those who are looking at how worship can be God centered and how people can experience God more fully in a worship service.

Worship leaders should read this book. Period. I've been using it to read to my team as a devo at our rehearsals, and it does a wonderful job at explaining what the Bible says about worship, and growing as worshipers - especially as lead worshipers. For any worship leader it's a MUST READ.

Every parishioner regardless of denomination should read this book. This is so personal in so many ways for everyone. Learning to love God in every facet of life. Awesome

This is a must have book for worship leaders and anyone else involved in putting together worship services. My copy is full of highlights.

If you want a closer walk with Jesus Christ, Then learn about worship. Great insight. The book will help you to understand worship. Keep up the great writing!.
