Wanda Teays is currently a professor and chair of the Philosophy Department at Mount St. Mary's College in Los Angeles. She has a B.A. in Mathematics and Philosophy from CSU Fullerton, an M.A. in Philosophy of Mathematics from the University of Alberta, a Ph.D. in Humanities from Concordia University in Montreal, and an M.T.S. (Applied Ethics) from Harvard University. She teaches, writes, speaks, and edits books in the areas of critical thinking, bioethics, violence, human rights and the law. Having studied and taught in Canada over a span of twelve years, she knows the value of diverse perspectives. She draws on her work as a consultant in critical thinking to colleges, universities, and school districts (K-12) to promote quality education for all students. She lives in Los Angeles with her husband, pet cockatoo, and a small herd of cats.

A good product. Nothing wrong. I would recommend it to every one. Good product.

This book was a requirement for Critical Thinking class and it was an enjoyable read. The explanations, reasonings and exercises were clear and easy to follow. I only rented this book and really wish I purchased it as a keeper instead. And I just may do that.

I particularly liked chapter seven about fallacies. It was very detailed and easy to understand. I would buy it again!
