"What a little gem! Joan Hickson is the best of the Miss Marples." -- Winner of AUDIOFILE Earphones Award, AudioFile June/July 2004

Agatha Christie was born in 1890 and created the detective Hercule Poirot in her debut novel, The Mysterious Affair at Styles (1920). She achieved wide popularity with The Murder of Roger Ackroyd (1926) and produced a total of eighty novels and short-story collections over six decades.

Twenty-four of Christie's best whodunits are now available from Black Dog & Leventhal as part of their bestselling hardcover Agatha Christie Collection. --This text refers to an out of print or unavailable edition of this title.

please read. The story description for this book is incorrect. This particular title is the American version of "One Two Buckle My Shoe." The story write up on 's page for "The Patriotic Murders" is a description of another Christie book entitled "The ABC Murders." I just purchased "The Patriotic Murders" which I originally read as "One Two." The purchase was not in error. I couldn't figure any other way to notify you. I love and thought you might want to know about this. I really don't think this qualifies as a review:)

Interesting concept for a series of stories.

Sophisticated, beautifully written short stories.

The Tuesday Club Murders is a group of mysteries discussed once a week by Miss Marple and her friends. Each chapter has a new twist to unravel. A clever idea that proves that even every day people have experiences to share that may or may not have an explanation. Easy reading that keeps the reader interested. This book is a little different Marple, but nonetheless is worth it. I liked it very much.

Wonderful Marple
