love this pad. I write in pencil, move things around and carry them over to next day or week when I don't complete things. It really helps me stay on task. No more forgetting things as the day passes. I can quickly refer to my list when I have 10-15 minutes to kill and can knock something off.

I'm currently a busy college student, and often created my own "to do" lists in a similar format such as this, but they were crude hand drawings. I'm only in my second week of a new term and this pad has been invaluable. It feels a little wasteful that these are single sided pages, but I use the backs of them to take more detailed notes of class procedures and online instructions.

Wow I love this pad. Lots of room and easily organized. Love!

Nice, stays at my computer for notes, very handy.

I love these. You can use them for any year.

Much smaller than I thought it would be, but still helpful.

This is the best designed weekly planner pad I have owned. I love that you can organize by the time of day (morning, afternoon, evening, night, for example). It is great. I ordered enough to last me three years.

I use it everyday!
